UX WALKTHROUGH VIDEO

Seven lessons on decisions, flows and trade-offs.

1. Start with the decision
2. Design the way back
3. Context beside the decision
4. Make every state readable
5. Plan the test first
6. Say what's being reviewed
7. Carry intent into the build

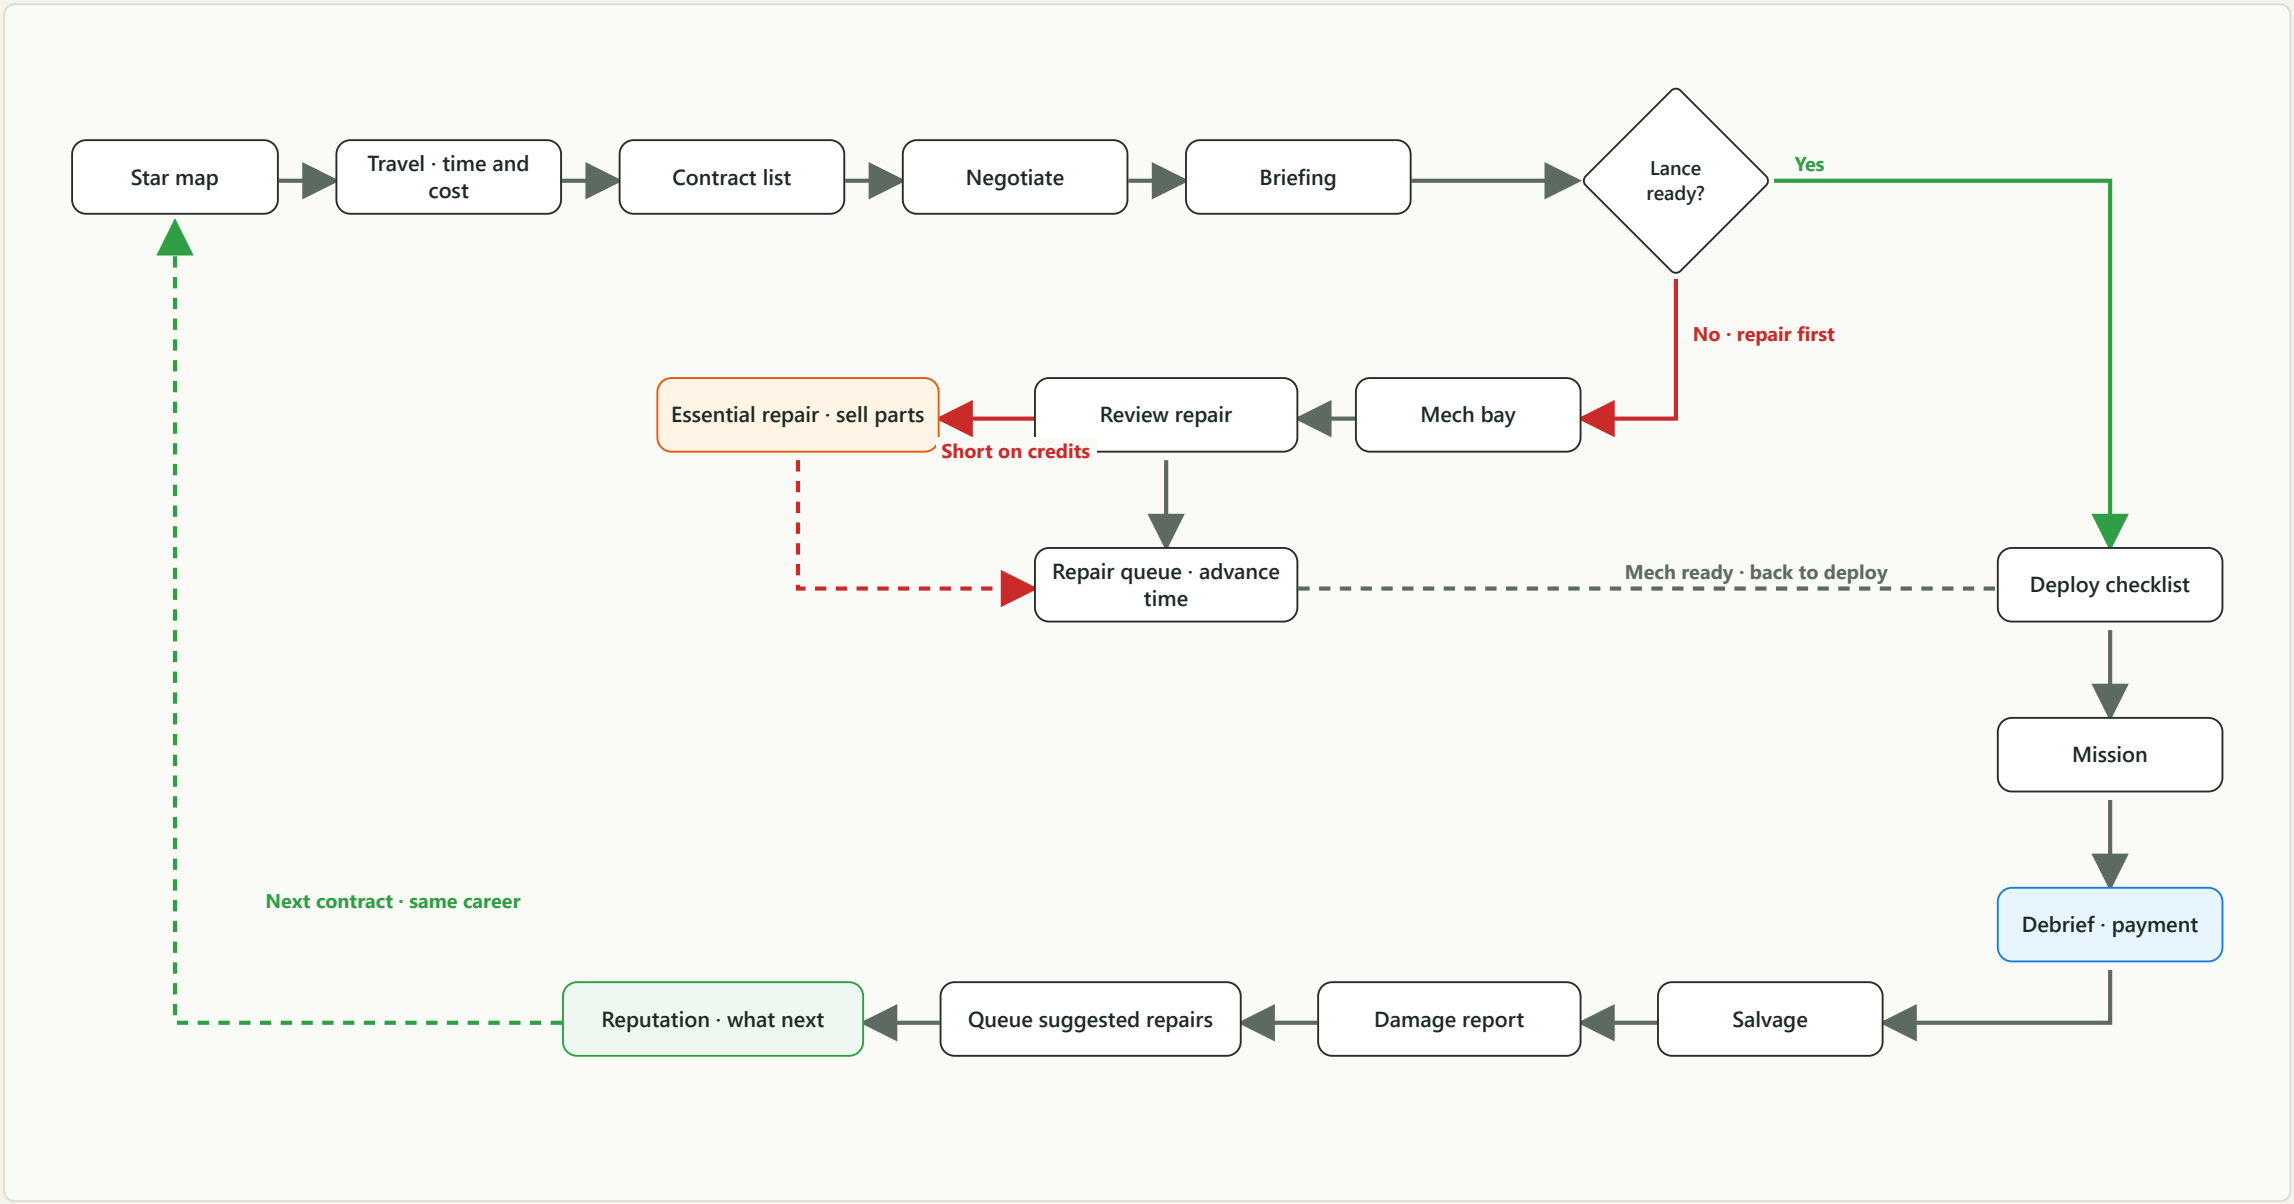
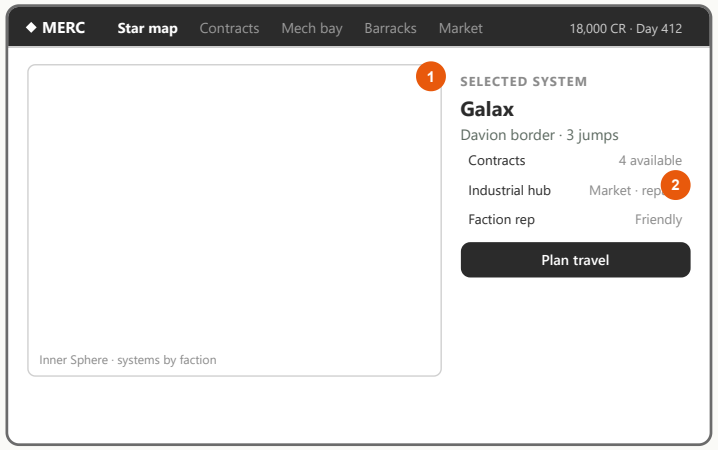
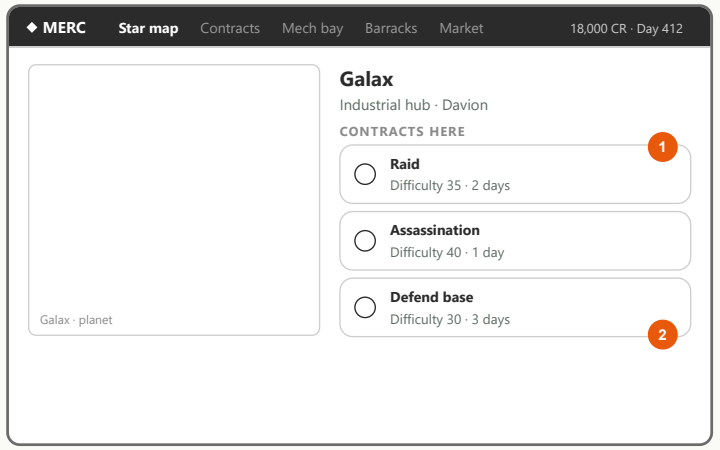
MECHWARRIOR 5 · CONTRACT-TO-PAYDAY FLOW





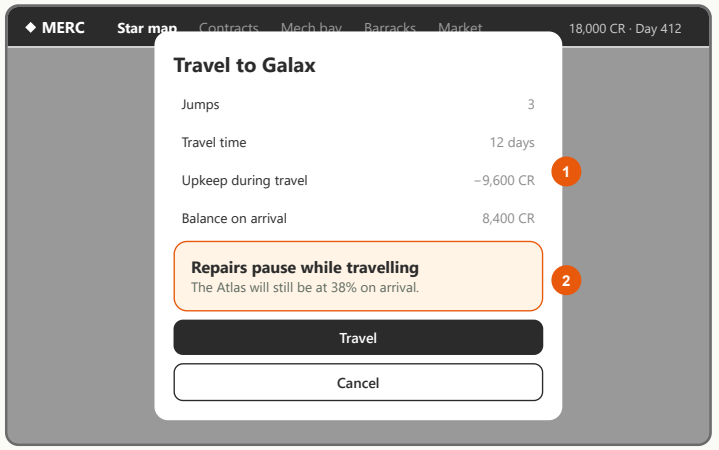
1 Star map

1. The map stays visible while a system is inspected.
2. What a system offers is listed before you travel.



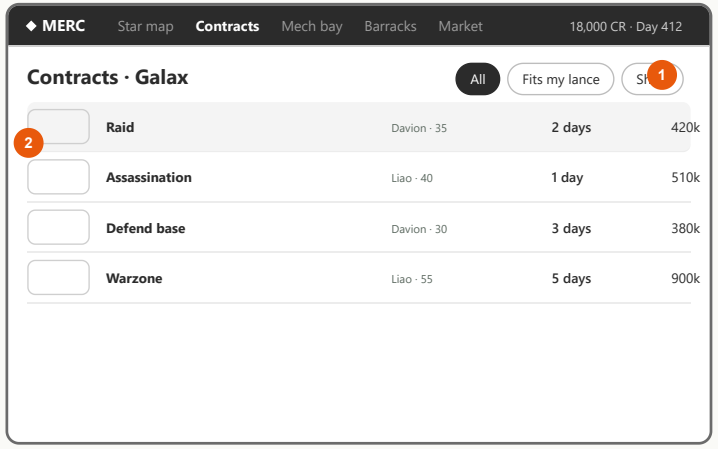
2 System detail

1. Contracts preview before committing to travel.
2. Travel time sits beside each contract.



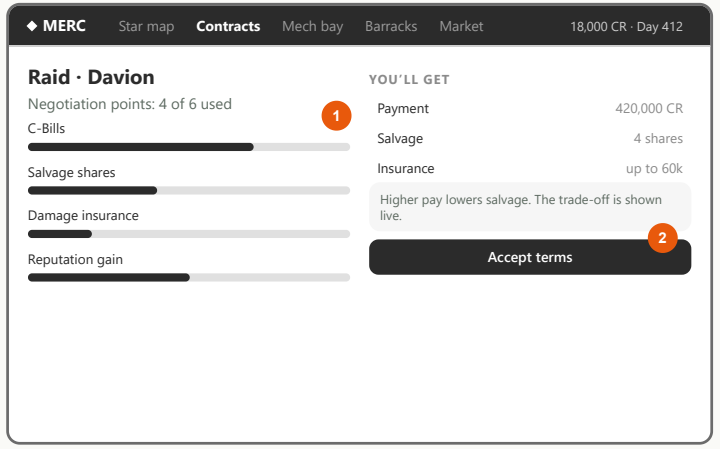
3 Confirm travel

1. Time and money cost shown before the jump.
2. Warns about side effects, like paused repairs.



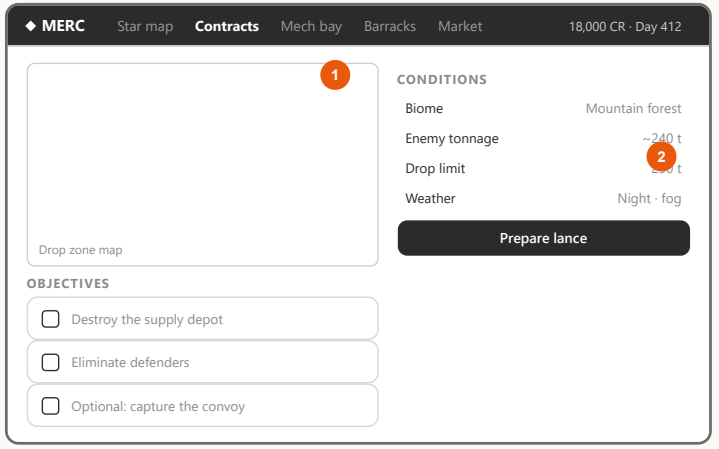
4 Contract list

1. Filter by what your current lance can handle.
2. Difficulty, time and pay in one row.



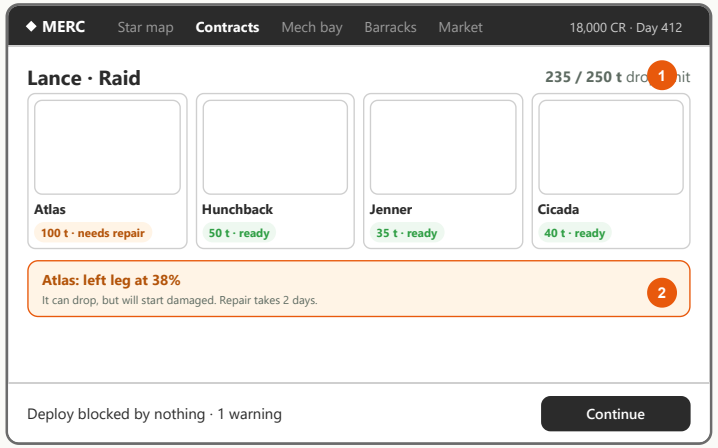
5 Negotiate the contract

1. Every slider is a visible trade-off.
2. The result updates as you negotiate.



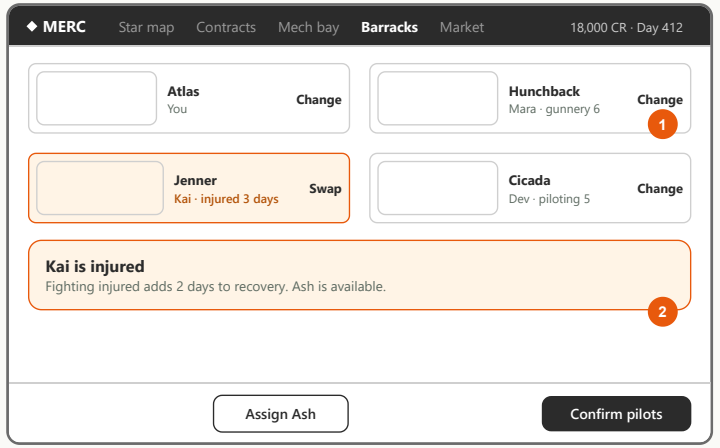
6 Mission briefing

1. Objectives and conditions on one screen.
2. Drop limit is visible before choosing mechs.



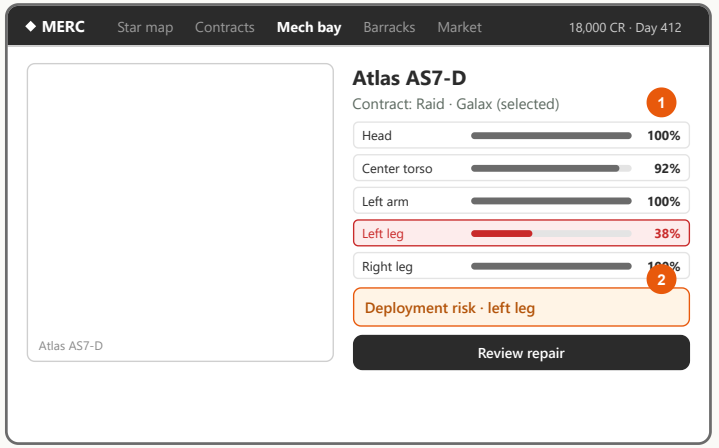
7 Select the lance

1. Tonnage against the limit, always visible.
2. Damage is a warning, not a hidden surprise.



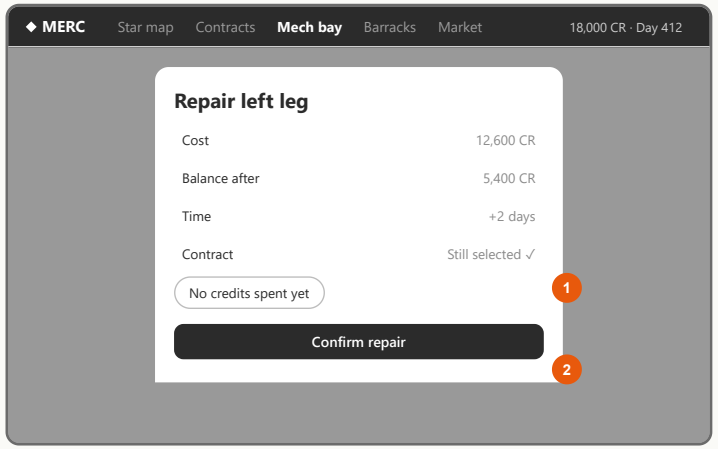
8 Assign pilots

1. Pilot condition shows where the choice is made.
2. A ready replacement is suggested.



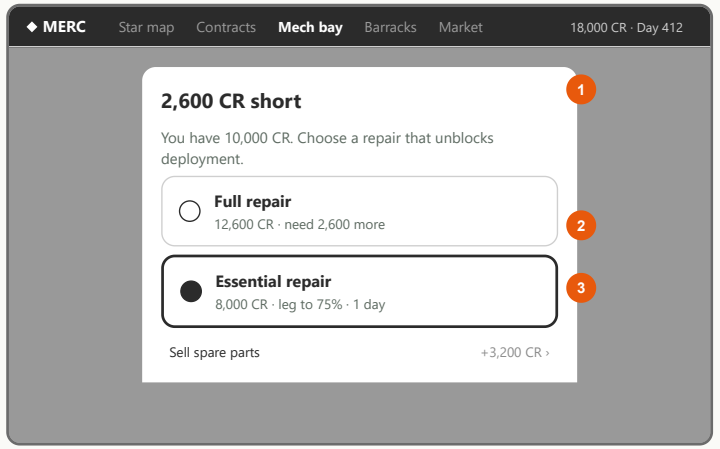
9 Mech bay

1. The selected contract travels with you.
2. Damage named in words and on the bar.



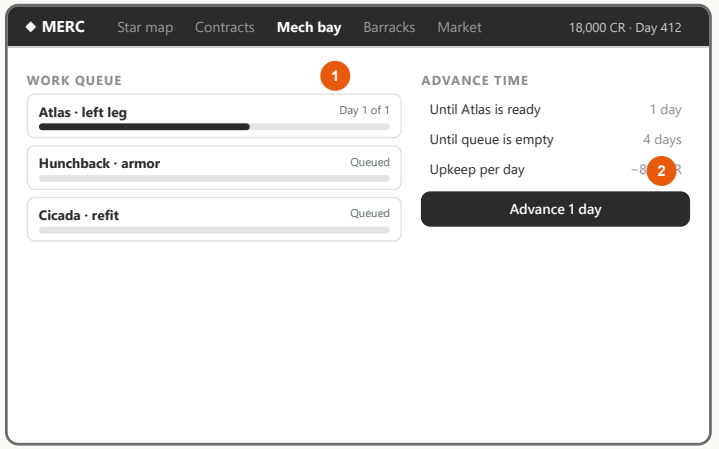
10 Review the repair

1. States that nothing has been spent yet.
2. Cancel keeps both mech and contract.



11 Not enough credits

1. The exact shortfall, not a generic error.
2. The cheapest fix that still unblocks you.
3. A way to raise money without leaving.



12 Repair queue and time

1. Queue order can be changed by priority.
2. Time costs money, so the cost is shown.

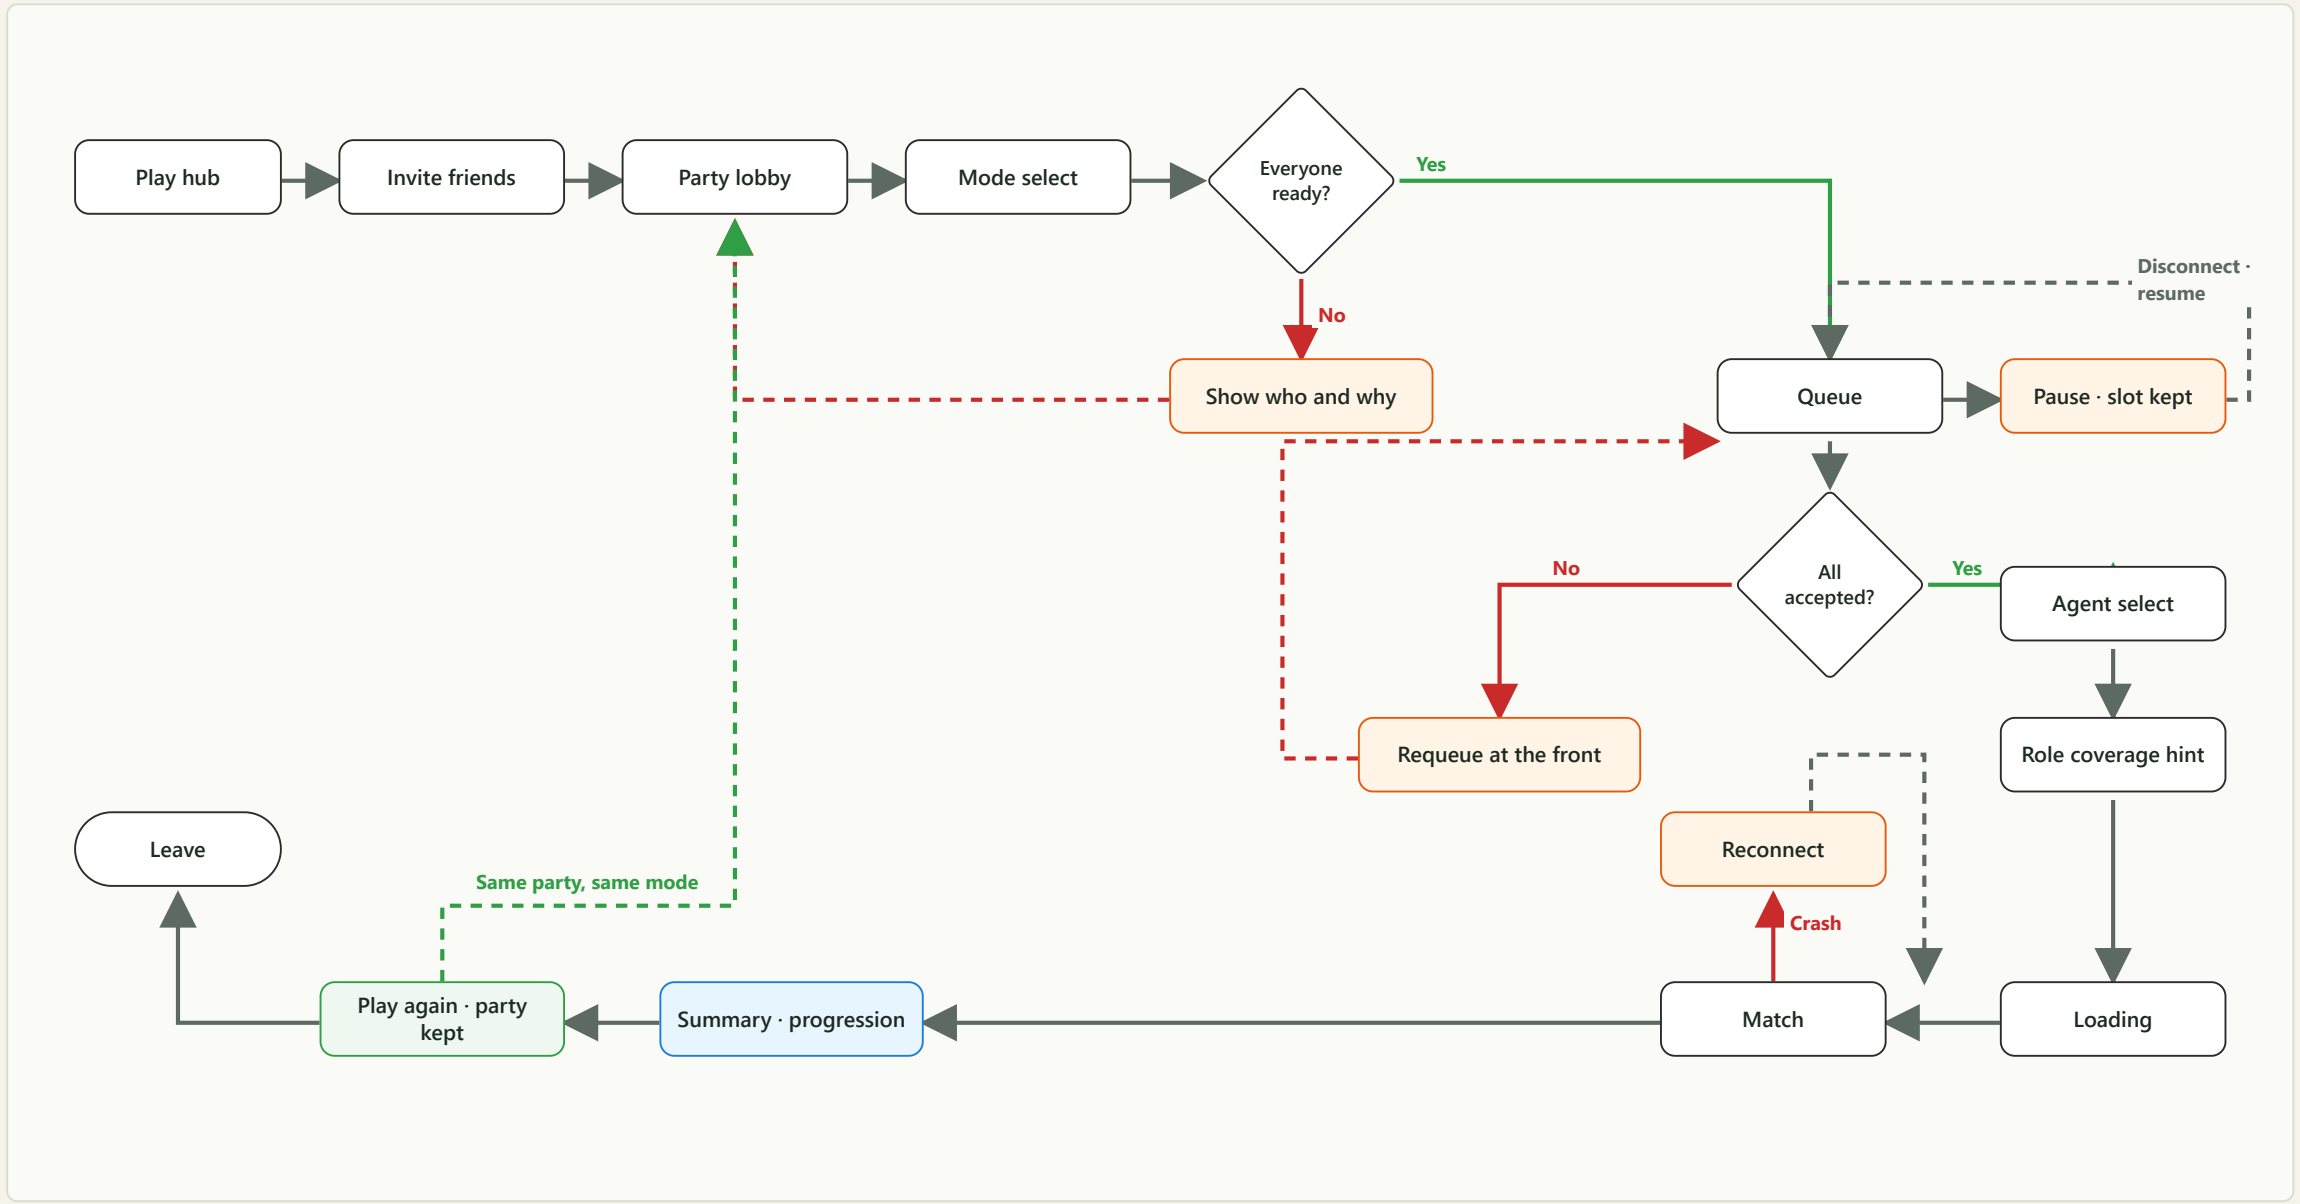
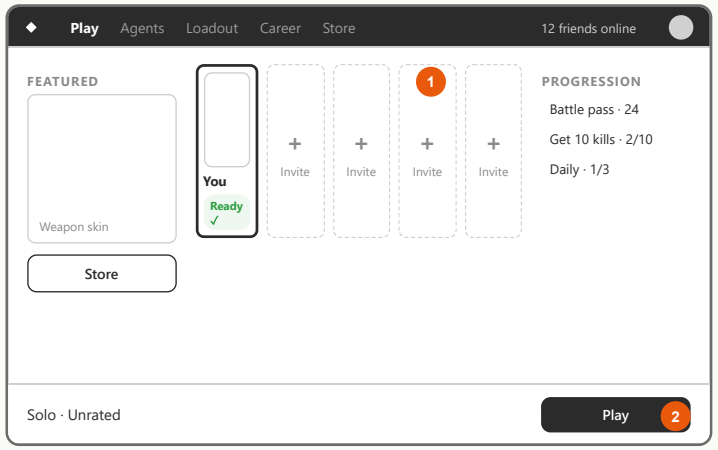
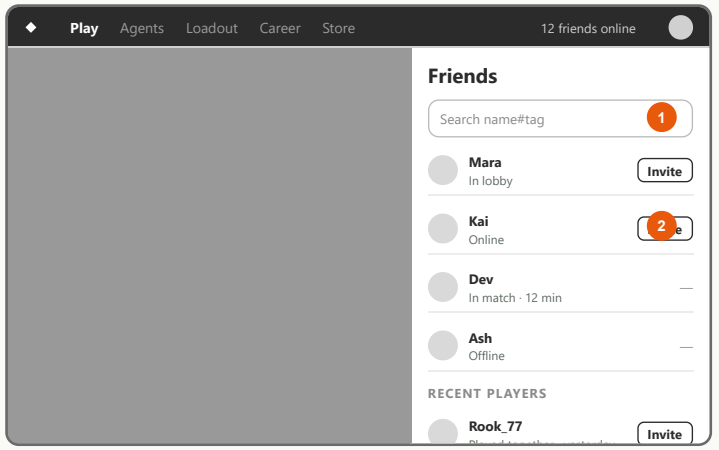
MULTIPLAYER · PARTY-TO-MATCH FLOW





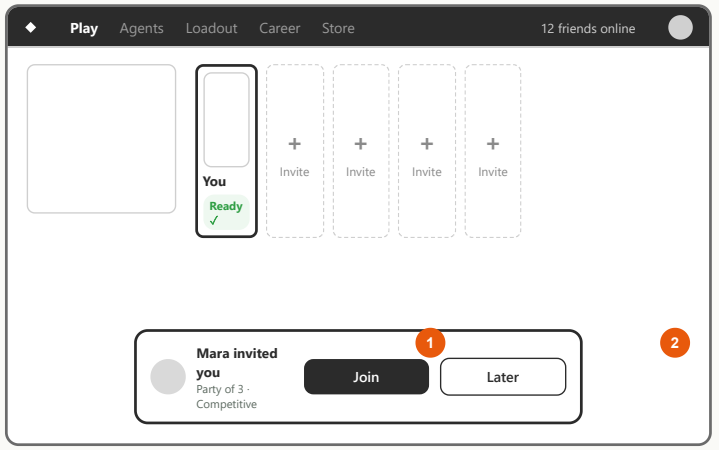
1 Play hub

1. The party sits at the centre of the screen.
2. One primary action: Play.



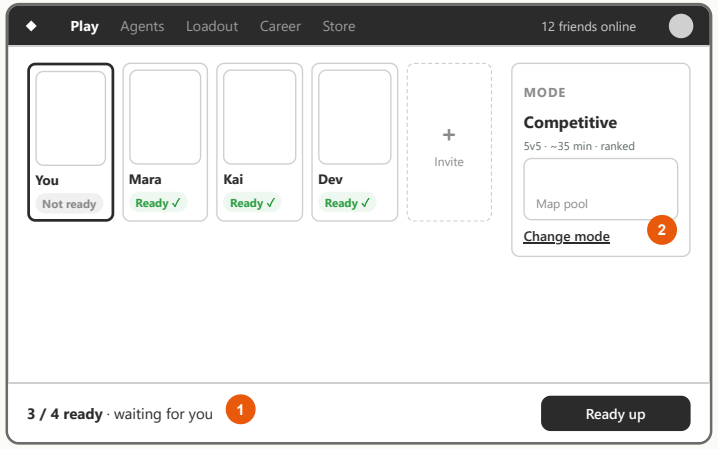
2 Invite friends

1. Status says who can join now.
2. Recent teammates are one tap away.



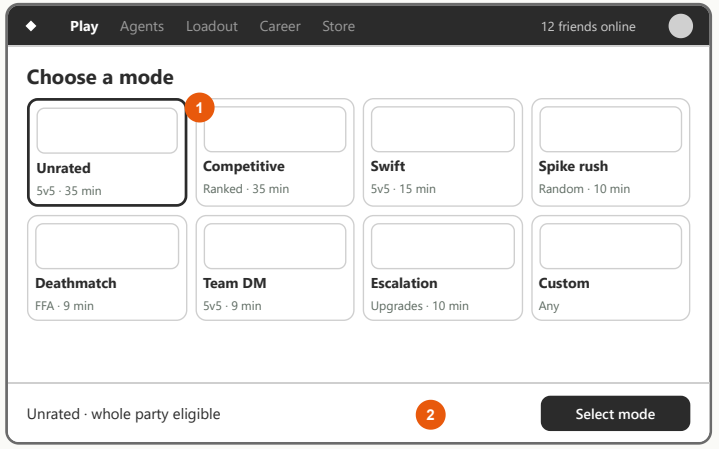
3 Invite received

1. Shows the party and mode before joining.
2. Later keeps the invite in the friends list.



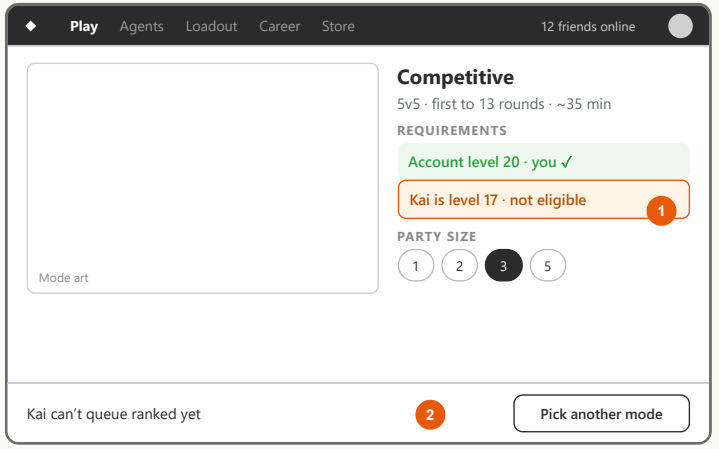
4 Party lobby

1. Readiness is a count in words.
2. Changing the mode resets everyone's ready state.



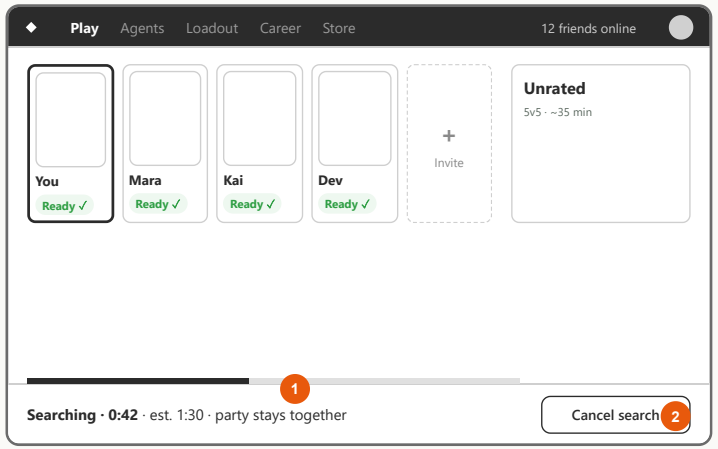
5 Mode select

1. Every mode uses the same card, so they compare.
2. Eligibility is checked for the whole party.



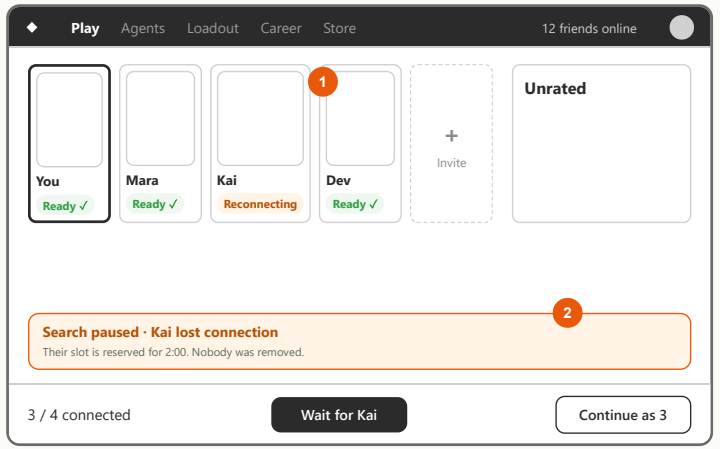
6 Mode details

1. Names who is blocked and why.
2. Offers a way forward, not just a disabled button.



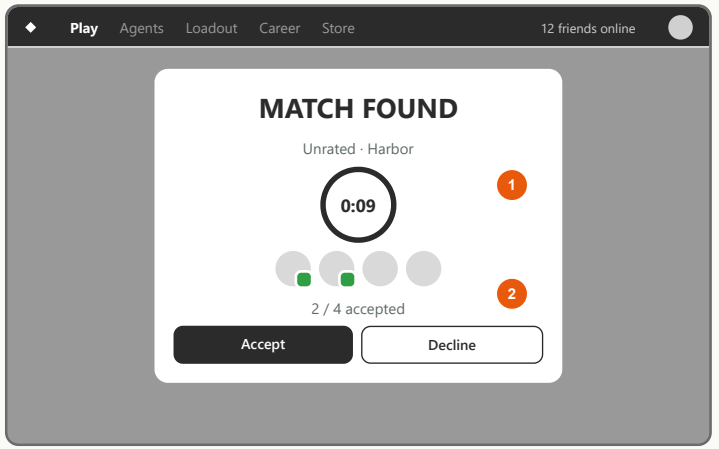
7 Searching

1. Elapsed and estimated time, not a spinner.
2. Cancel returns the whole party to the lobby.



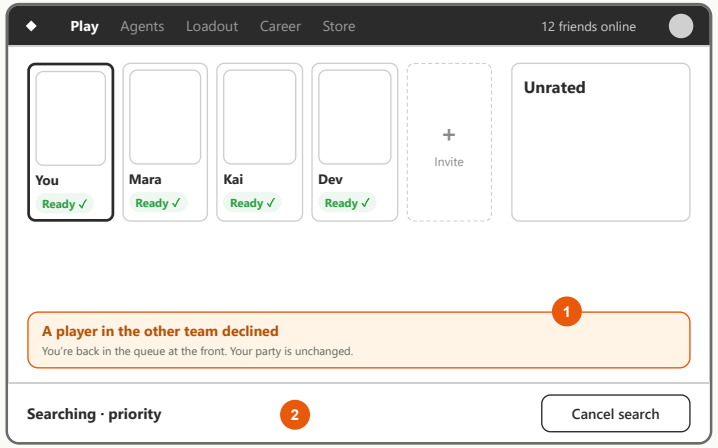
8 Teammate disconnects

1. The dropped player keeps a reserved slot.
2. Says what happened and that nobody was kicked.



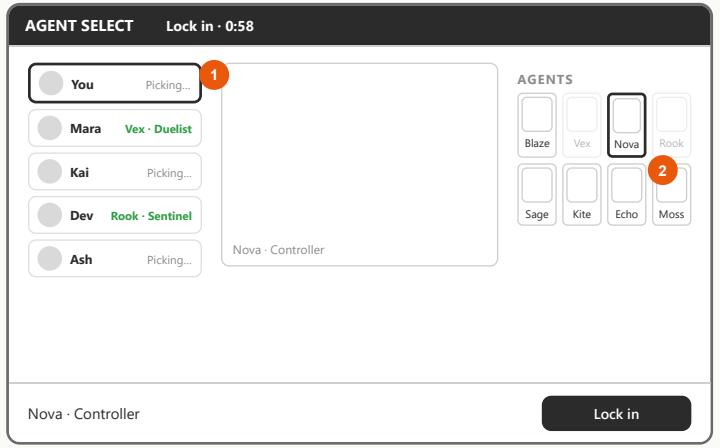
9 Match found

1. A visible countdown; no auto-accept.
2. Everyone sees who has accepted.



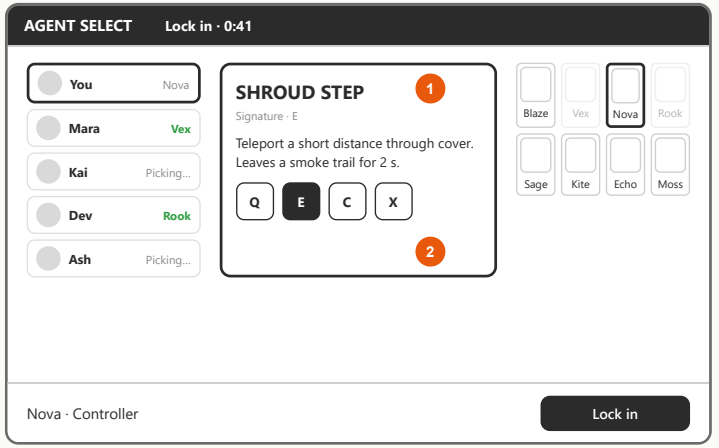
10 Someone declines

1. Explains whose decline it was, without naming.
2. Priority requeue: nobody starts over.



11 Agent select

1. Teammates' picks and roles are always visible.
2. Taken agents are greyed out, not hidden.



12 Ability detail

1. Detail opens in place; the timer keeps running.
2. Each ability shows its key and what it does.

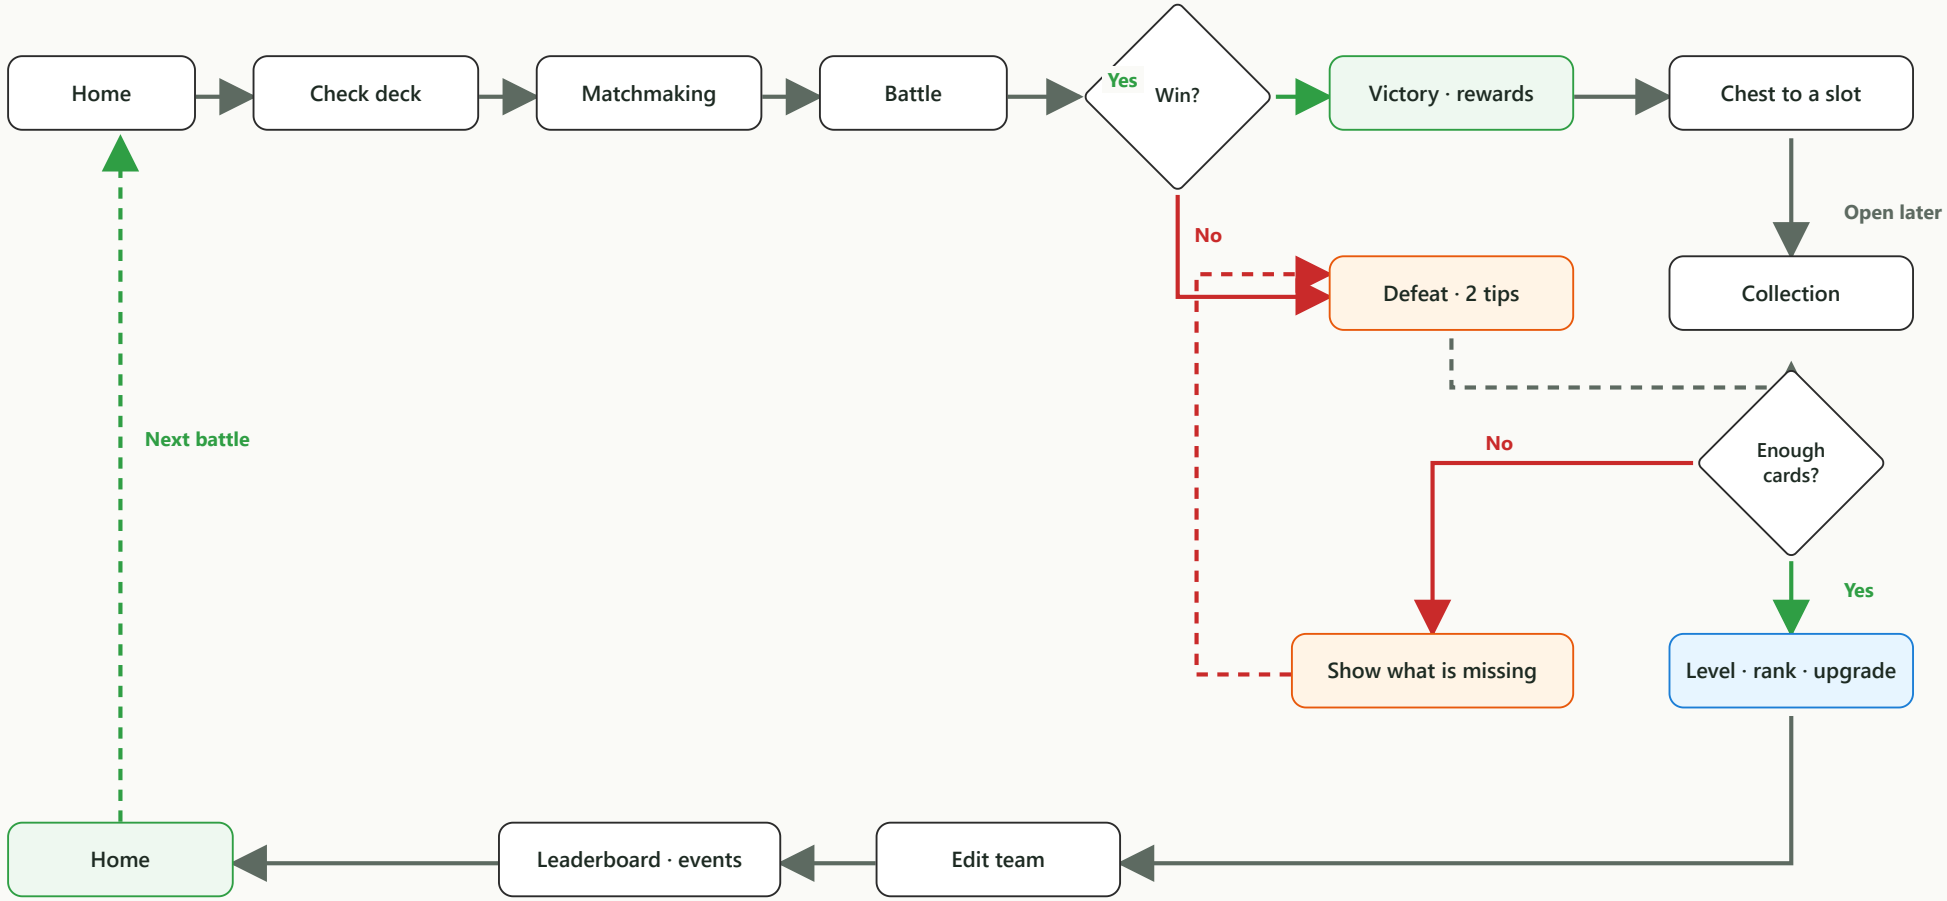
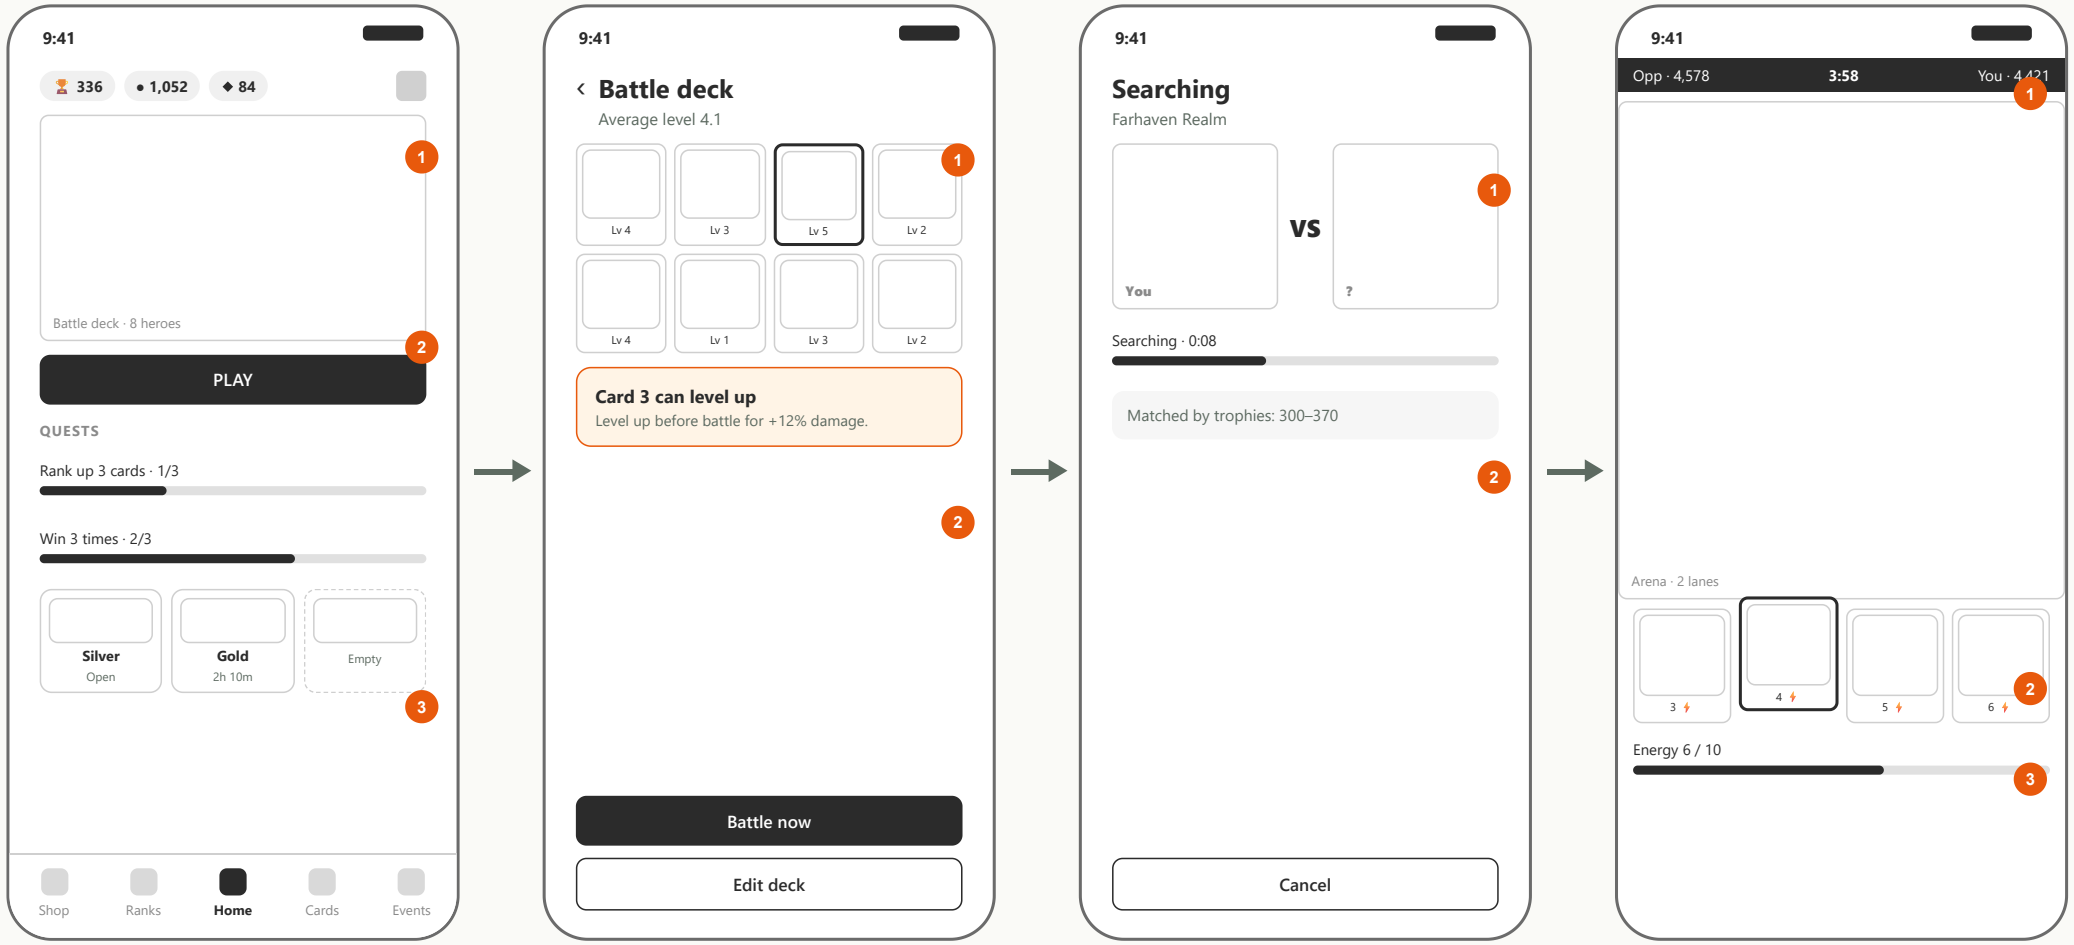
TNT · BATTLE-TO-UPGRADE FLOW





1 Home

1. Play is the one big action on Home.
2. Quests show progress, not just a list.
3. Chest slots show ready, timing and empty.

2 Check the deck

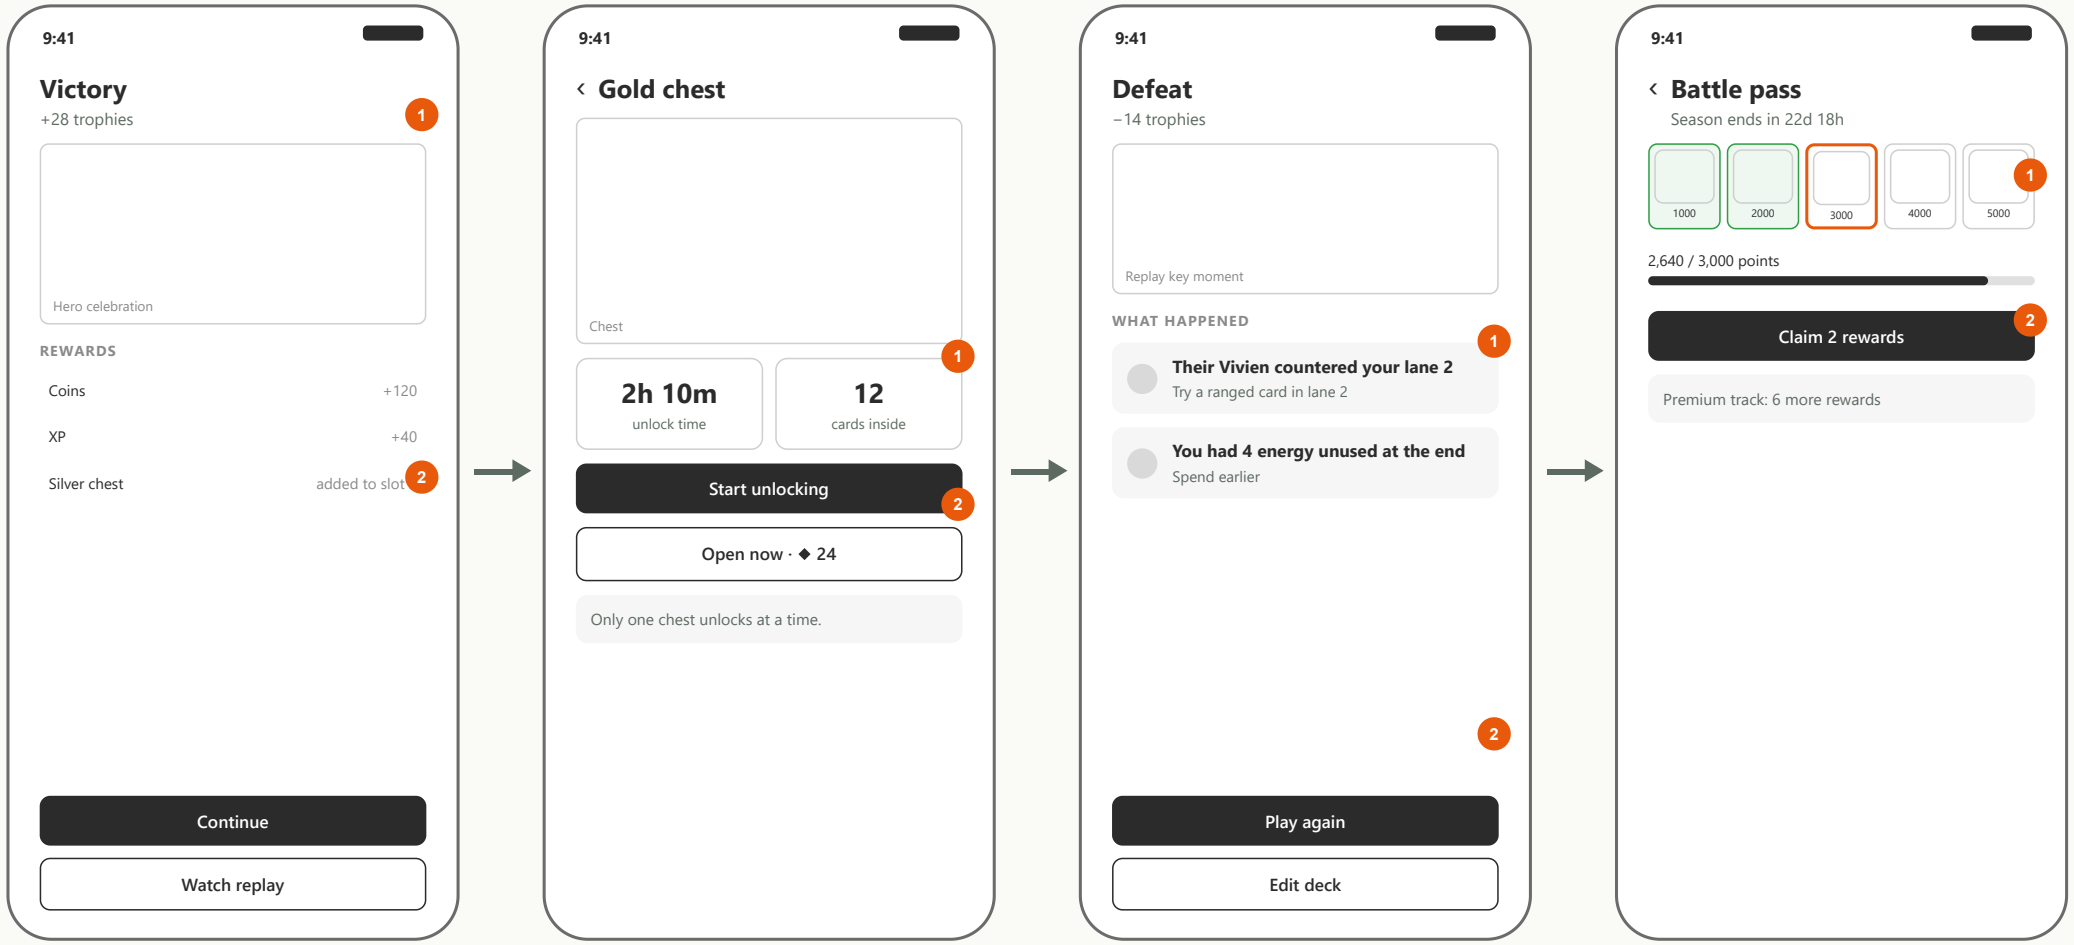
1. The deck is reviewed before every match.
2. Suggests an upgrade, never forces it.

3 Finding an opponent

1. Both sides mirrored; the opponent appears when found.
2. Explains how the opponent is chosen.

4 Battle

1. Timer and both scores always visible.
2. Selected card lifts; cost on every card.
3. Energy bar shows what you can afford.



5 Victory

1. Trophy change stated first.
2. Says where the chest went.

6 Chest unlock

1. Time and contents before committing.
2. The paid shortcut is secondary.

7 Defeat

1. Two specific, fixable reasons.
2. Edit deck is right there.

8 Battle pass

1. Past, next and future rewards in one strip.
2. Claim is one action, not one per reward.

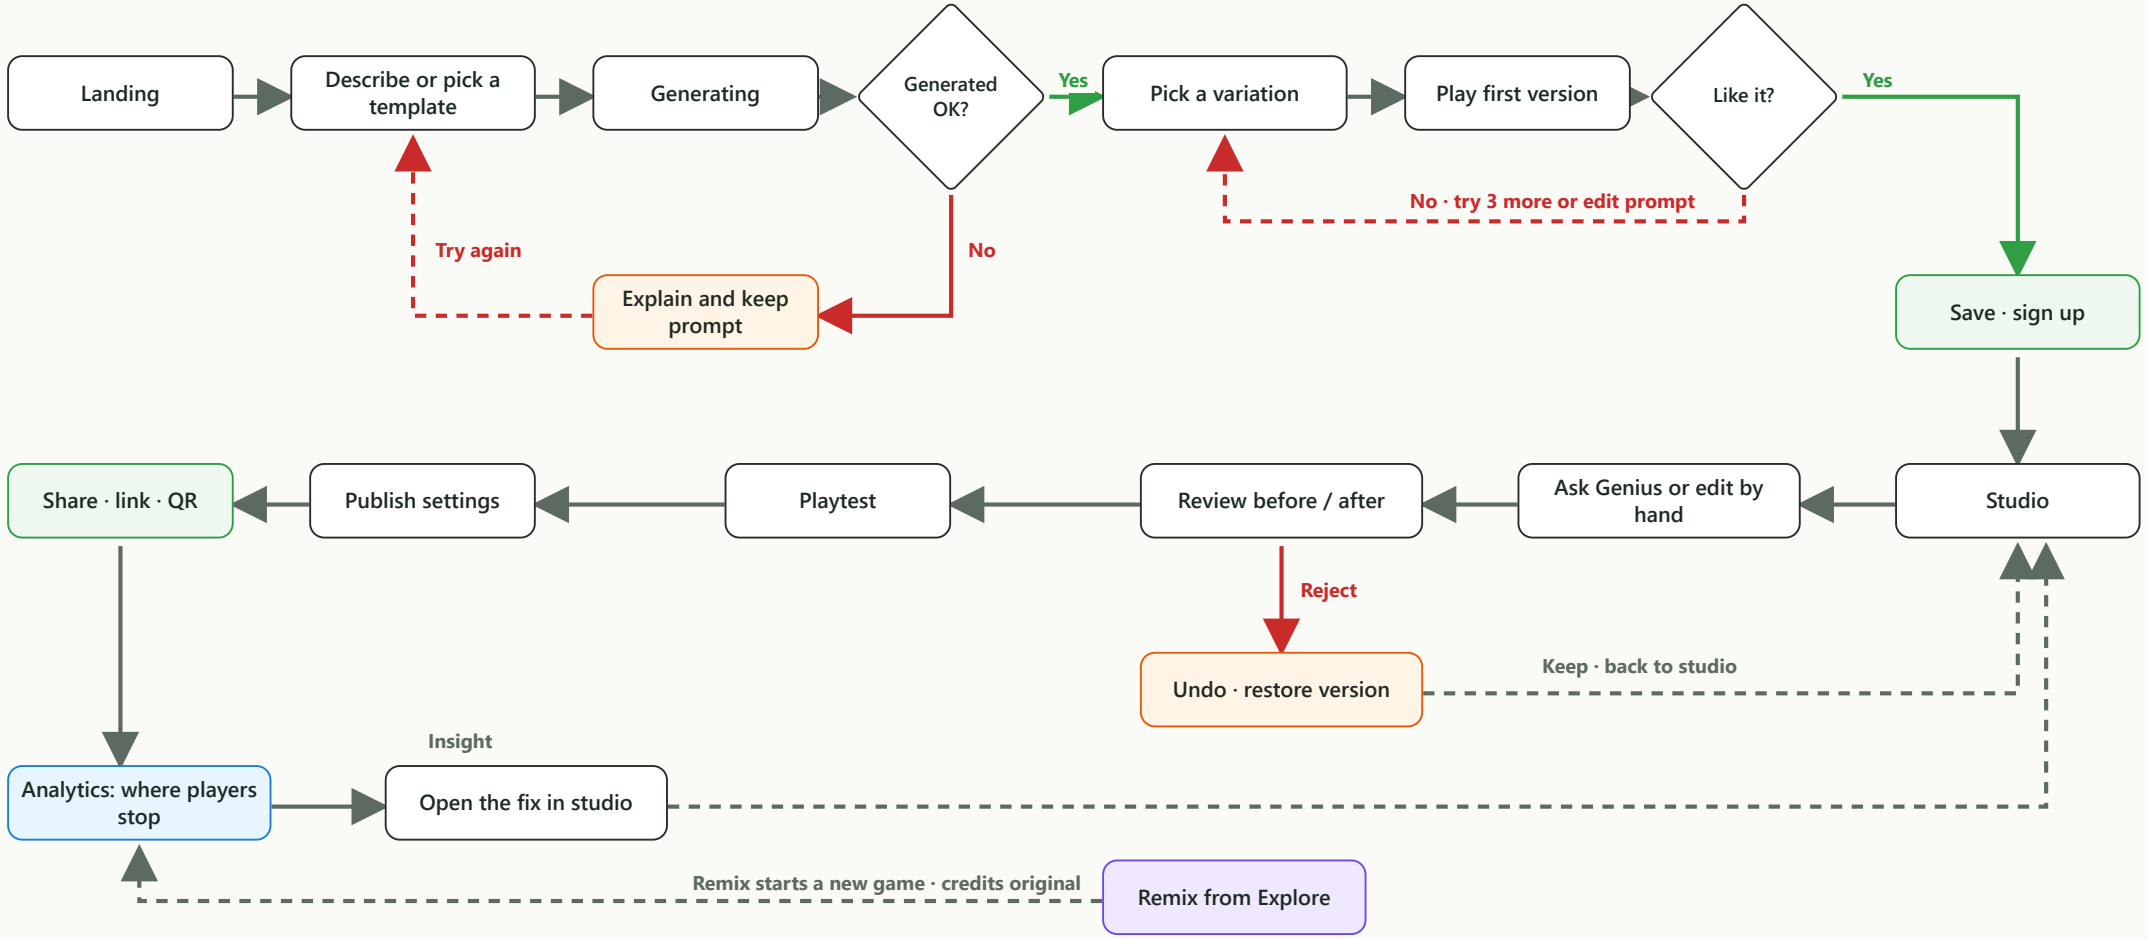
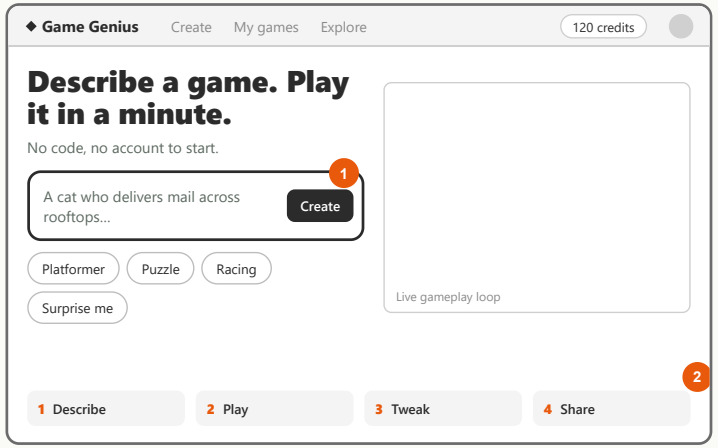
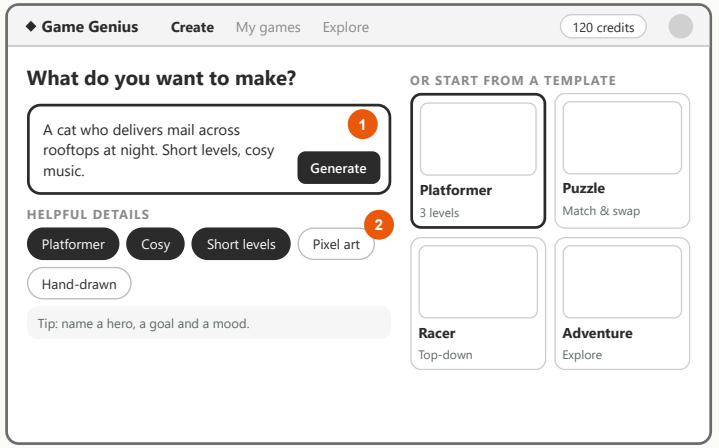
GAME GENIUS · CREATOR FLOW





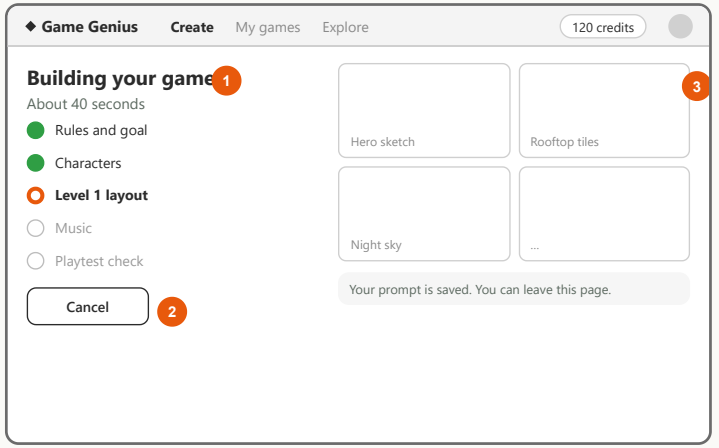
1 Landing page

1. The prompt box is the hero; trying needs no sign-up.
2. Four steps explain the whole product.



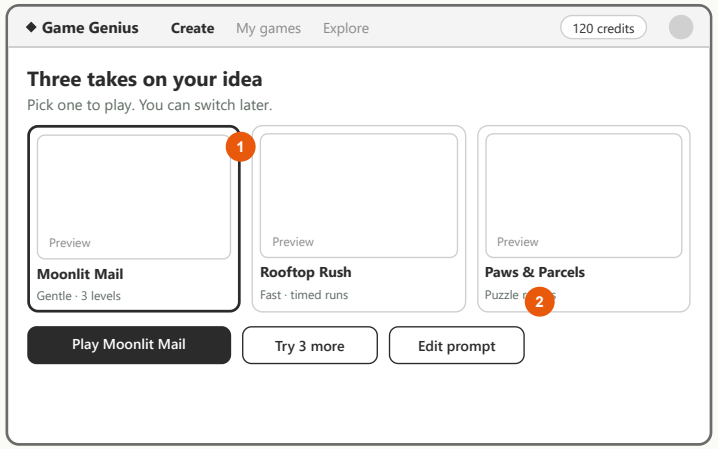
2 Describe your game

1. Free text first, with chips that teach good prompts.
2. Templates for people who prefer to pick.



3 Generating

1. Real stages, not a spinner.
2. Cancel is always available.
3. Assets appear as they are made.

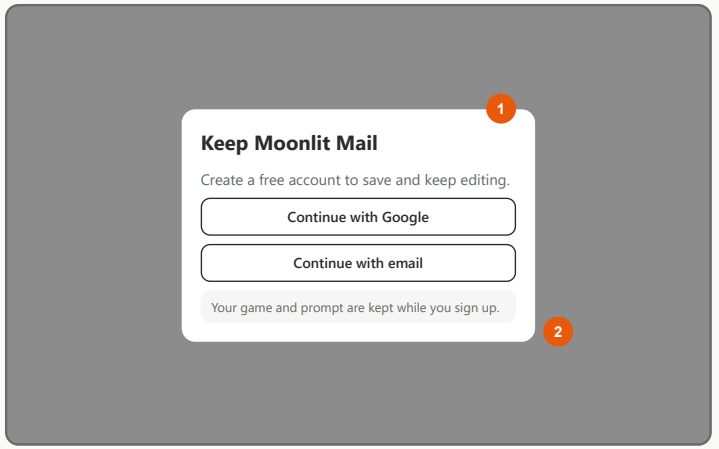


4 Pick a variation

1. Choice without a blank page.
2. More variations or a prompt edit, never a dead end.

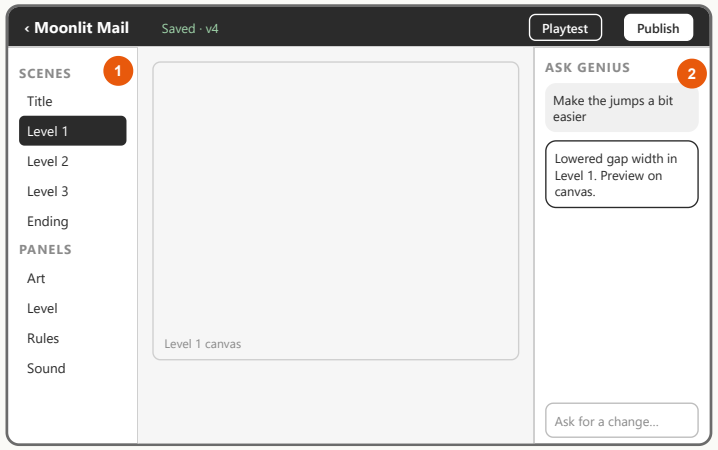
5 Play the first version

1. Controls are shown on screen, then fade.
2. Two clear next steps after playing.



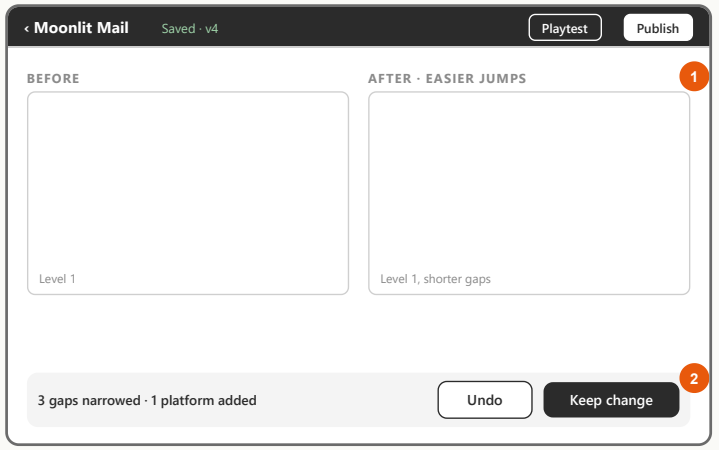
6 Save your game

1. Sign-up arrives when there is something to lose.
2. Nothing is lost during sign-up.



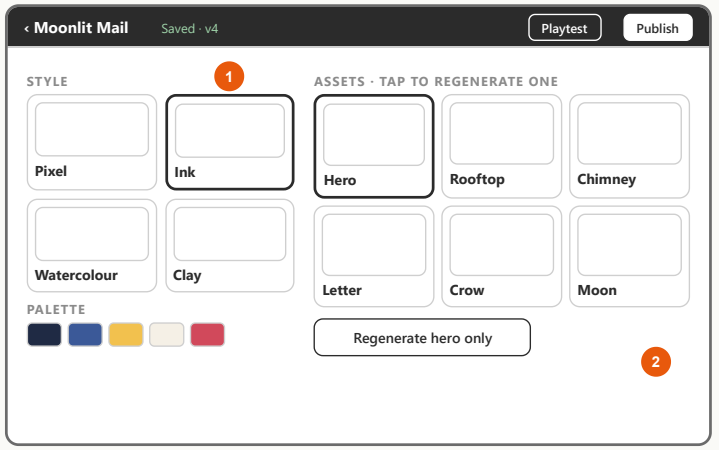
7 Studio overview

1. Every part of the game is one click away.
2. Ask in words or edit by hand, side by side.



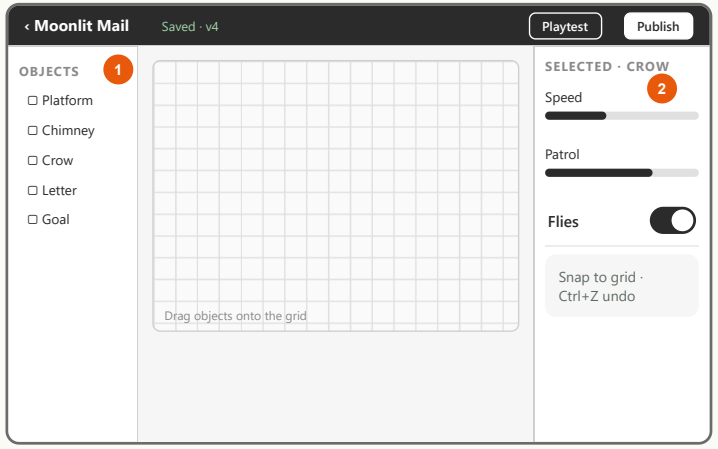
8 Review a change

1. AI changes are shown before and after.
2. Every change can be kept or undone.



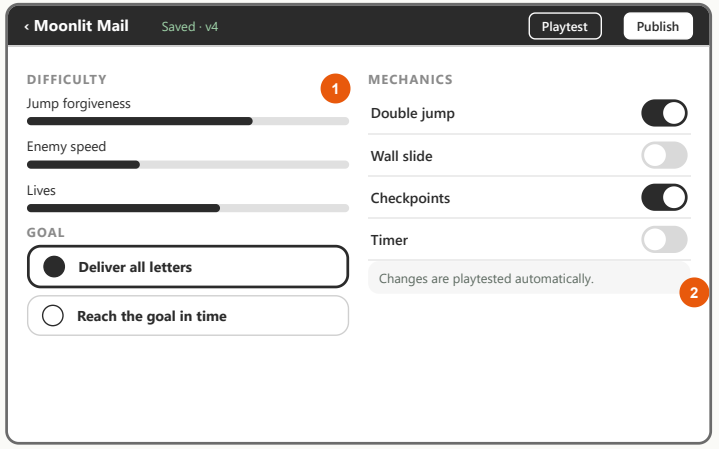
9 Art style

1. Style changes apply to the whole game at once.
2. Single assets can be redone without touching the rest.



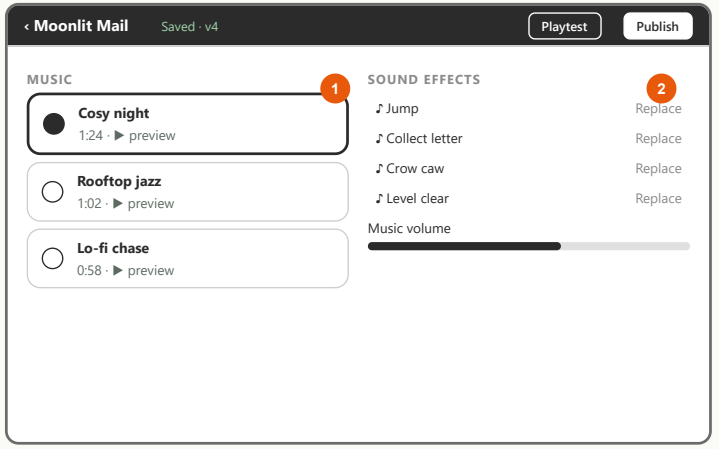
10 Level editor

1. Direct editing for people who want control.
2. Properties of the selected object, nothing else.



11 Rules and difficulty

1. Plain-language controls, no numbers to learn.
2. An automatic playtest catches broken levels.



12 Music and sound

1. Every track can be previewed before choosing.
2. Sounds can be swapped one at a time.

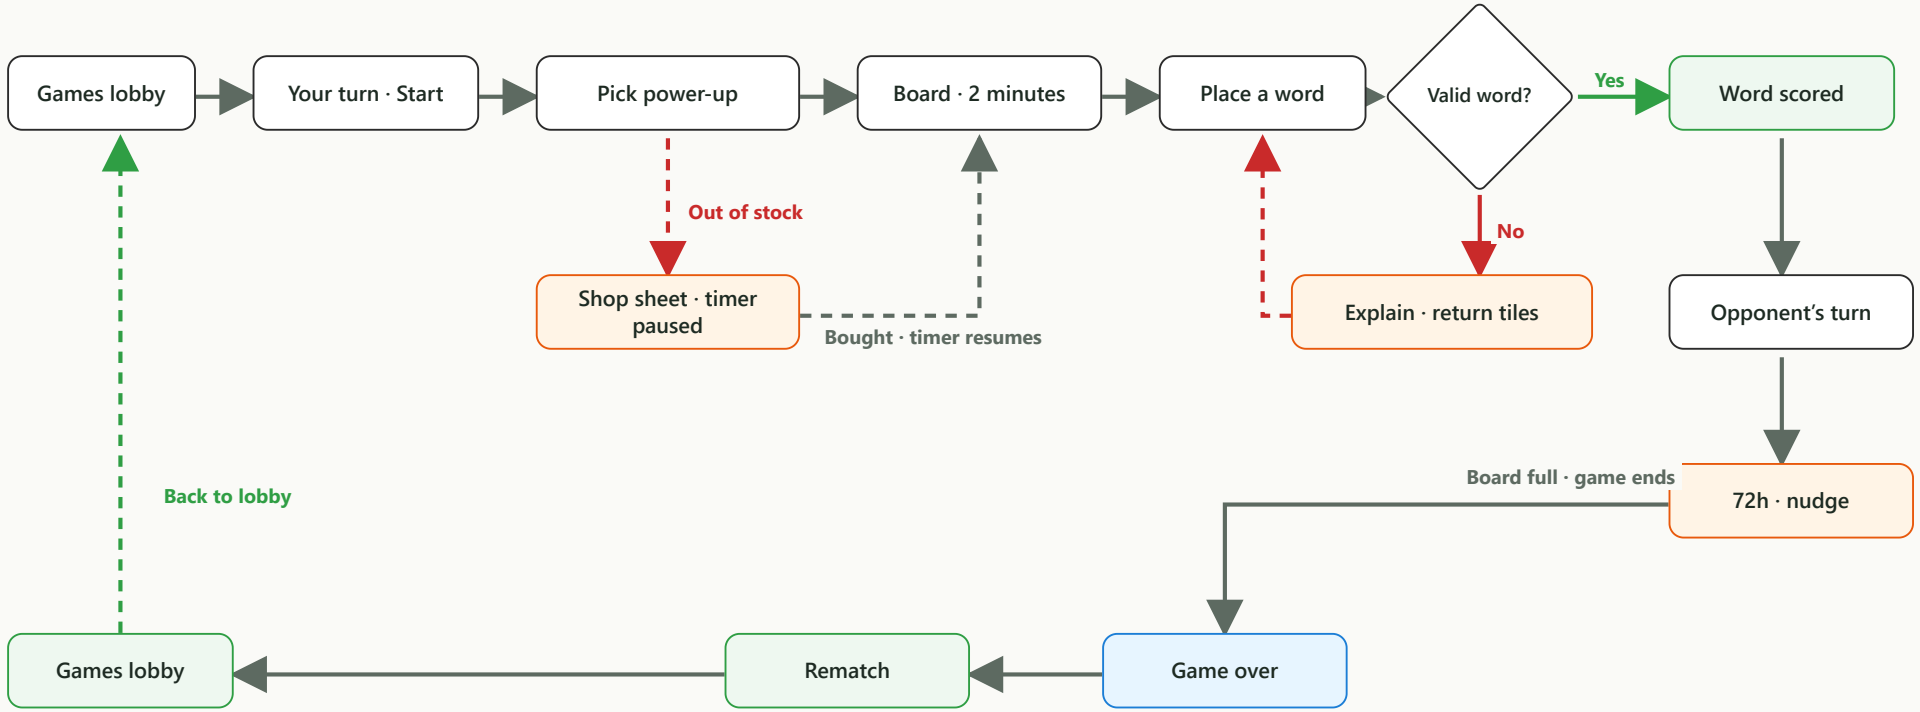
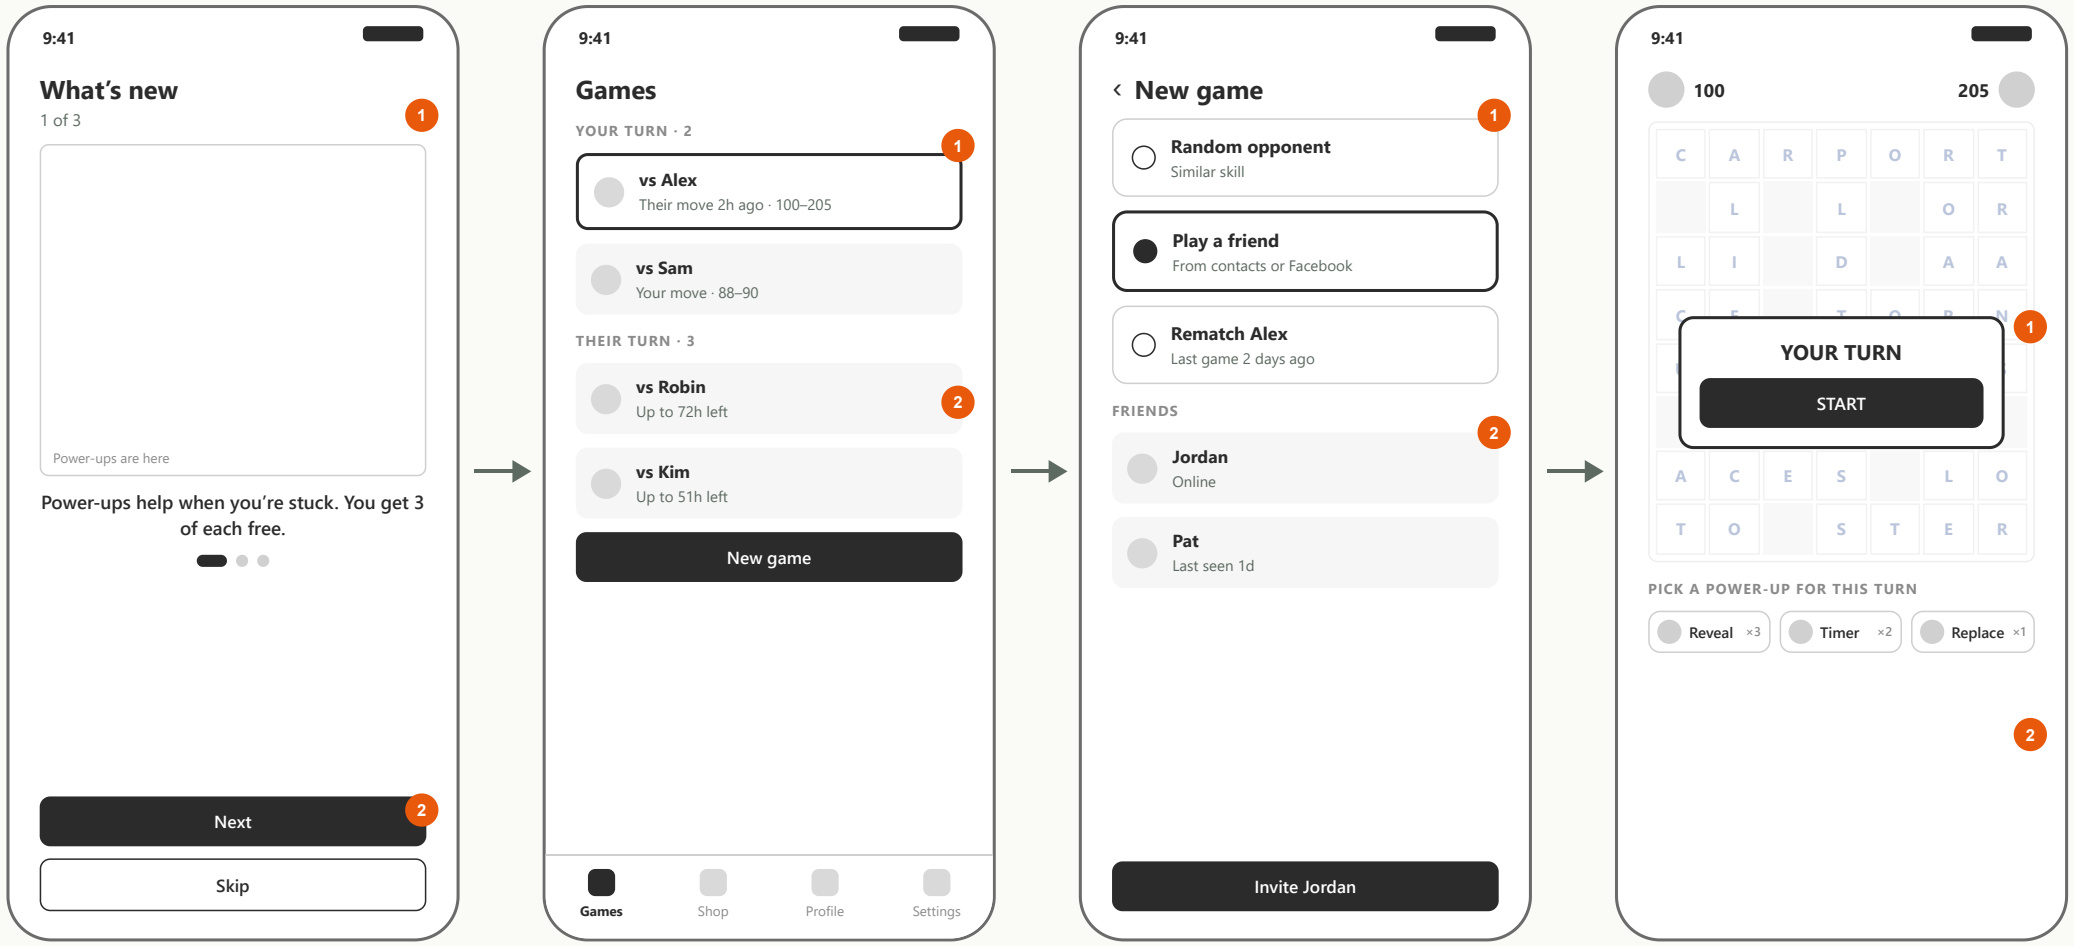
KRYSS · ASYNCHRONOUS TURN FLOW





1 Returning player

1. Three short slides for returning players only.
2. Skip is always available.

2 Games lobby

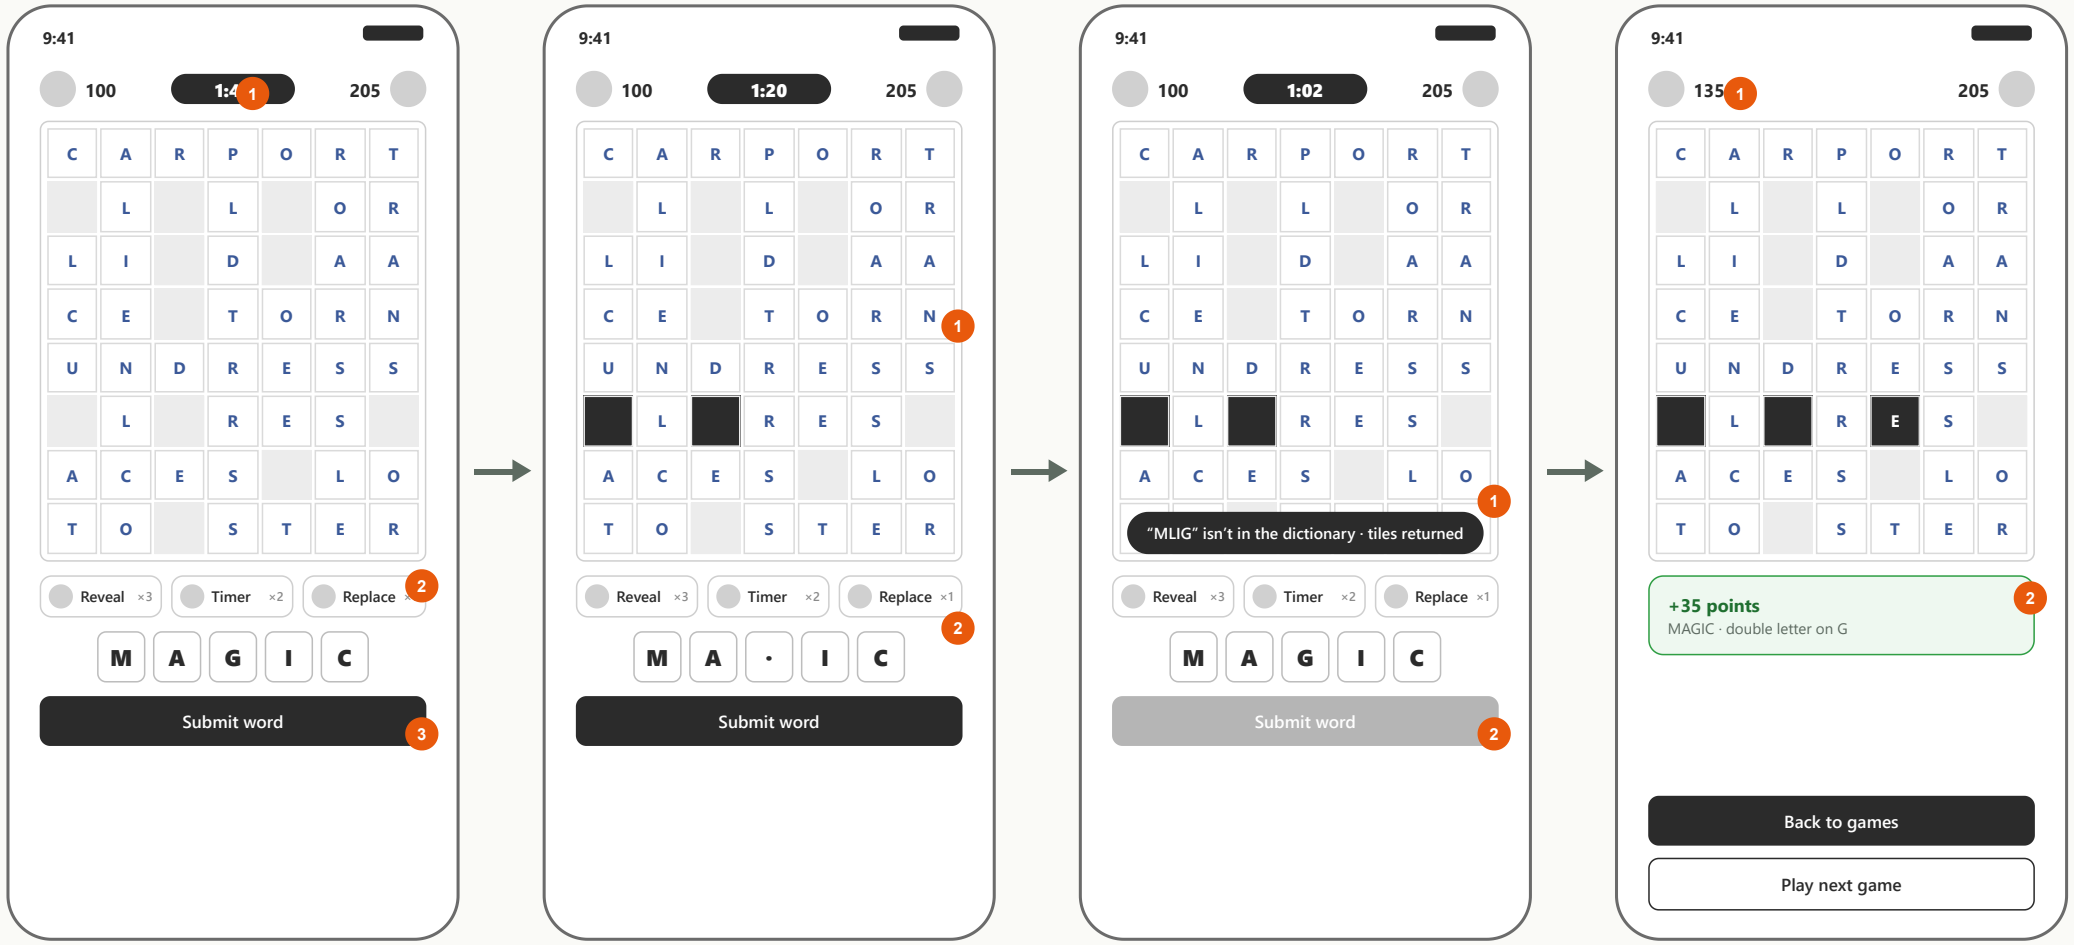
1. Your-turn games come first.
2. Waiting games show time left.

3 New game

1. Three ways to start, one per line.
2. Rematch is suggested from history.

4 Your turn

1. Start brings back a moment to decide.
2. Power-ups can be chosen before the timer runs.



5 Board · 2 minutes

1. The timer sits between both scores.
2. Power-ups are always visible.
3. Letters you hold sit above Submit.

6 Placing a word

1. Placed tiles are highlighted.
2. Used letters leave a gap in the rack.

7 Not a word

1. Explains why, then returns the tiles.
2. Submit stays off until the word changes.

8 Word scored

1. Your score animates up in the header.
2. Says where the points came from.

Powerup 1 - REVEAL

Step 2

Step 3

Step 4

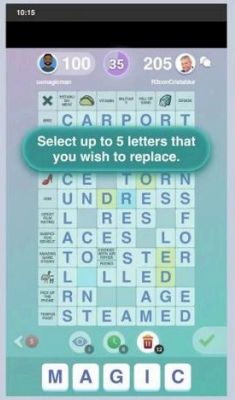
Particle effects and animations happen for each state.
CTA PILL Appears and dissapears it doesn't need to be on screen the entire time.

Powerup 2 - TIMER

Timer is an animation state happening within unity. When the user taps on the timer it automatically triggers the animation with the 30 seconds appearing on the timer. We are looking at ways to make this fun and exciting using animations. In this case we wont have a visual blocker hiding the content.

Powerup 3 - REPLACE

1. Replace Letter Pieces



2. Replace Letter Pieces

3. Confirmed and letters replaced

Animation and visual pass is being done in unity as we test what works and what doesn't work.

Game Rules
What is this game about?
In Kryss you solve crossword puzzles with and against your friends.
You can play online with Facebook-friends, Kryss-friends or random opponents.
The game is turn-based and each turn starts with the players being assigned 5 random letters - until all letters are used. When it's your turn, you have 1 minute to place as many letters as possible on the game board.
Letters not placed correctly you will keep to the next round.

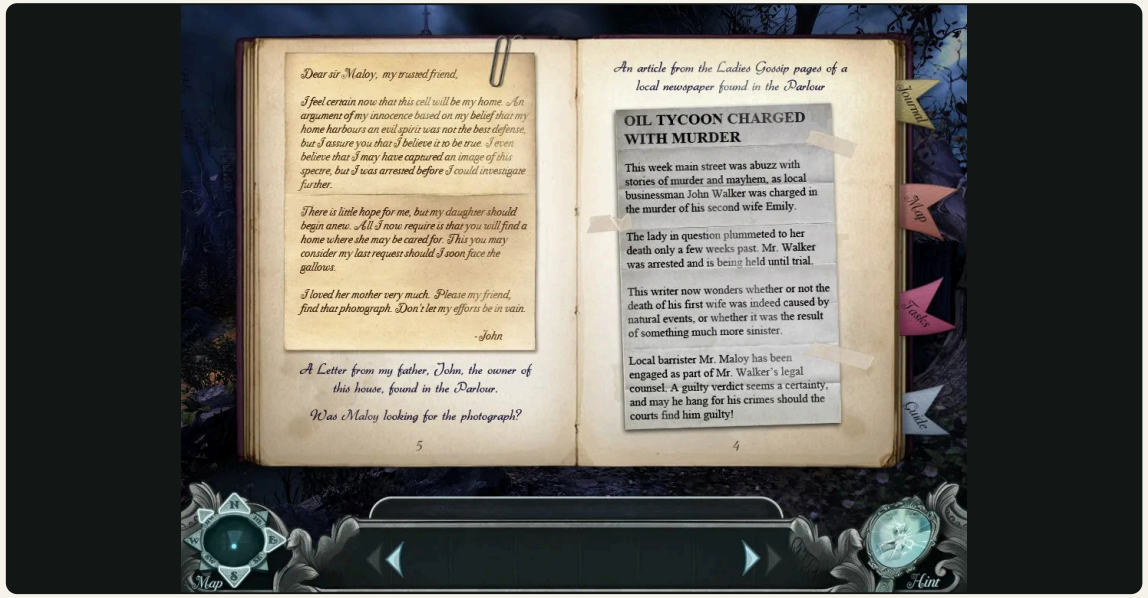
Welcome
REMI



Dear sir Maloy, my trusted friend,
I feel certain now that this cell will be my home. An argument of my innocence based on my belief that my home harbours an evil spirit was not the best defense, but I assure you that I believe it to be true. I even believe that I may have captured an image of this specre, but I was arrested before I could investigate further.
There is little hope for me, but my daughter should begin anew. All I now require is that you will find a home where she may be cared for. This you may consider my last request should I soon face the gallows.
I loved her mother very much. Please my friend, find that photograph. Don't let my efforts be in vain.
-John
A Letter from my father, John, the owner of this house, found in the Parlour.
Was Maloy looking for the photograph?
5
An article from the Ladies Gossip pages of a local newspaper found in the Parlour
OIL TYCOON CHARGED WITH MURDER
This week main street was abuzz with stories of murder and mayhem, as local businessman John Walker was charged in the murder of his second wife Emily.
The lady in question plummeted to her death only a few weeks past. Mr. Walker was arrested and is being held until trial.
This writer now wonders whether or not the death of his first wife was indeed caused by natural events, or whether it was the result of something much more sinister.
Local barrister Mr. Maloy has been engaged as part of Mr. Walker's legal counsel. A guilty verdict seems a certainty, and may he hang for his crimes should the courts find him guilty!

Playful Interactivity!
Fraggle Rock's Great Hall was bustling with busyness. Red was hopping on her pogo stick. Mokey was painting a portrait. The Doozers were building a building. And Boober was delivering the laundry. "I love laundry," Boober said, pushing his cart through the crowd.
